Key Terms:

Accumulated Value – At any time after the policy Effective Date it equals the sum of the values in the Basic Strategy, all Interest Strategies, and any values in the Systematic Allocation Rider account and the loan collateral account. It does not include any loan amounts outstanding, or surrender charges that may be due upon surrender of the policy.

Accumulated Value Adjustment – Total amount by which the Accumulated Value was reduced due to the partial acceleration of the death benefit through an accelerated benefits rider.

Cost Of Insurance – The policy expense deducted during this statement period for the cost of insurance.

Credited Interest – The percent of interest credited to an Interest Strategy account expressed as a weighted average of the accumulated value present in each strategy.

Current Charges – The total current policy expenses, which may be less than the policy charges guaranteed in your policy.

Guaranteed Interest Rate – The minimum interest rate guaranteed in your policy.

Guaranteed Charges – The maximum policy expenses applicable to your policy.

Contract Expenses – Policy expenses are defined as the sum of premium expense charges, accumulated value charges (if applicable), and other expense charges. These are the premium and expense charges to cover federal and state taxes, mortality cost, administrative cost, and acquisition cost including compensation paid to agents. For additional details please refer to your policy or you can view the Policy Transactions Summary at NationalLife.com.

Planned Premium – The Planned Periodic Premium Payment the applicant has chosen to pay. If the Planned Premiums are insufficient to continue coverage, additional payments may be necessary to keep this coverage in force. Your current annual planned premium payment is $2,400.00.

Withdrawals – Amount you have withdrawn during the statement period from the accumulated value.

The Death Benefit Protection Period is from 08/15/2019 to 08/15/2044. During this period your Death Benefit protection will keep in force if Monthly Guarantee Premiums (MGP) are paid on time. This Death Benefit guarantee might terminate if there were withdrawals or loans on the policy. Please refer to your policy and to the Death Benefit Protection Rider form for more information.

Disclosures:

- 1 The current death benefit reflected on this statement may differ from the face amount of coverage you applied for due to riders that increase the death benefit, death benefit options that increase the benefit by the accumulated value of the policy, and outstanding loans that decrease the death benefit. Please refer to your policy for details.
- 2 Living Benefits - Benefits for terminal, chronic, and critical illness, and critical injury are provided by Accelerated Benefits Riders. These no-additional premium payment riders allow you to "accelerate" the death benefit (meaning to access some or all of the death benefit while living) in the event you experience a qualifying illness or injury. Payment of Accelerated Benefits will reduce the Accumulated Value and Death Benefit otherwise payable under the policy. Receipt of Accelerated Benefits may be a taxable event, may affect your eligibility for public assistance programs, and may reduce or eliminate other policy and rider benefits. Please consult your personal tax advisor to determine the tax status of any benefits paid under this rider and with social service agencies concerning how receipt of such a payment will affect you.
- 3 The Lifetime Income Benefit Rider provides a benefit for the life of the insured if certain conditions are met, including but not limited to the insured's attained age being between age 60 and 85, and that the policy has been in force at least 10 years. Insufficient policy values, outstanding policy loans and other considerations may also restrict exercising the rider. Receipt of income benefits will reduce the policy's accumulated value and death benefit and may terminate other riders or reduce their benefits. There is a monthly charge from the accumulated value during the income payment period.
- 4 Surrender value is known as the cash surrender value in your policy. The Accumulated Value that would be available today, net of surrender charges, outstanding loans and state premium payment tax, if applicable. Policy loans and withdrawals reduce the policy's accumulated value and death benefit and may result in a taxable event. Withdrawals up to the basis paid into the contract and loans thereafter will not create an immediate taxable event, but substantial tax ramifications could result upon contract lapse or surrender. Surrender charges may reduce the policy's accumulated value in early years.
- 5 Current allocation of your accumulation value. Premium payments first go into the Basic Strategy account and are transferred to your chosen Interest Strategies on the next Monthly Transfer Date. Indexed earnings, if any, are credited based on the accumulated value in that strategy on the crediting date. Withdrawals, certain types of loans, and policy expenses may reduce the value in the strategy. Please refer to your contract for more information.
- 6 Total of all premium payments made for the life of the policy through the end of this statement period.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT YOUR LIFE INSURANCE POLICY

Keep this information with your insurance papers

Life insurance is a critical part of a broader financial plan. There are many options available, and if you are considering making changes in the status of your policy you have the right to shop around and seek advice from different financial advisers in order to find the options best suited to your needs.

This information is being sent to you as a required regulatory notice or because of one of the following scenarios: 1) you requested a surrender of your life insurance policy; 2) you requested accelerated death benefits under your life insurance policy; or 3) your life insurance policy has lapsed or is in danger of lapsing. You are encouraged to consider the following possible alternatives to these scenarios. These alternatives include, but are not limited to:

- Accelerated Death Benefit: Your policy may provide an early or accelerated discounted benefit payment if you have a terminal or chronic illness.
- Cash Surrender: Your policy may have a cash surrender value your life insurer would pay you if you cancel it.
- Gift: You may be able to gift your policy to your beneficiary, who would then assume responsibility for paying premiums.
- Life Settlement - Sale of the Policy: You may be able to sell your life insurance policy to a third party for an amount greater than the cash surrender value or accelerated death benefits under your policy. You pay no further premium. The third party becomes the policyholder and receives the benefit upon the insured's death.
- Maintain Your Policy: You may be able to maintain your life insurance policy in force by paying the premiums directly or using your current policy values to pay the premiums.
- Policy Changes: You may be able to reduce or eliminate future premium payments by obtaining a paid-up policy, by reducing optional coverages, or through other options available from your life insurer.
- Policy Loan: You may be able to take out a loan from your life insurance company using the cash value of your policy as collateral. Loan proceeds can be used to pay the premiums or for other purposes.
- Third-Party Loan: You may be able to get a loan from another party to pay your policy's premiums. In return, the lender may require an assignment of a portion or all of the rights under the policy, including the policy's death benefits.

These options may or may not be available depending on your circumstances, including your age, health or the terms of your life insurance policy. Any of the above actions may have significant future financial, tax, or other implications. Please see your policy or contact your life insurance company, financial advisor, attorney, agent, broker or other professional to determine your particular options.

COMMONLY USED TERMS

Accelerated death benefit: A benefit allowing terminally ill or chronically ill life insurance policyholders to receive cash advances of all or part of the expected death benefit. The accelerated death benefit can be used for health care treatments or any other purpose.

Cash surrender value: This term is also called "cash value", "surrender value", and "policyholder's equity". The amount of cash due to a policyholder who cancels his or her life insurance policy before it matures or death occurs.

Expected death benefit: The face amount of the policy, less any policy loan amounts, that the insurance company is expected to pay the beneficiaries named in the life insurance policy upon the death of the insured.

Face amount: The death benefit the insurer is required to pay the beneficiaries named in the life insurance policy upon the death of the insured, as stated in the policy. The actual death benefit may differ due to such factors as policy loans, failure to pay premiums, and for some types of policies - investment performance.

Lapse: Refers to a life insurance policy ending or expiring when a policyholder stops making premium payments.

Life settlement: Refers to a contract in which the policyholder sells his or her life insurance policy to a third party for a one-time cash payment which is greater than the cash surrender value, but less than the death benefit of the policy. A life settlement includes a viatical settlement, defined below.

Policy loan: A loan issued by an insurance company using the cash value of a person's life insurance policy as collateral.

Viatical settlement: An arrangement in which someone with a terminal illness sells his or her life insurance policy at an amount less than the death benefit. The ill person receives cash, and the buyer receives the full amount of the death benefit. This death benefit is payable once the former policyholder dies.
