News from Equitable

Are You Maximizing the Value of Your Retirement Plan?

Your retirement plan plays a critical role in supporting participants' long-term financial well-being. Regularly evaluating plan design elements—such as contribution structures, investment options, and beneficiary processes—can help ensure alignment with participant needs and organizational goals. Consult with your Representative to review your plan strategy and optimize outcomes.

Equitable is the brand name of the retirement and protection subsidiaries of Equitable Holdings, Inc., including Equitable Financial Life Insurance Company (Equitable Financial) (NY, NY), Equitable Financial Life Insurance Company of America (Equitable America), an AZ stock company with an administrative office in Charlotte, NC, and Equitable Distributors, LLC. The obligations of Equitable Financial and Equitable America are backed solely by their claims-paying abilities.

Performance is not annualized.

²Performance Notes

Your retirement plan is in a product that is a group variable annuity. Annuities are long-term financial products designed for retirement purposes. This performance data represents past performance, which is not an estimate, indication or guarantee of future results. Rates of return and principal will fluctuate, and units may be worth more or less than your original contribution when redeemed. Current performance may be lower or higher than the performance data quoted.

Returns of less than one year are not annualized.

The variable investment options under the group annuity contract, which are divisions in Equitable's separate account, invest in corresponding portfolios of various mutual funds. Performance data shown here for any period prior to the date that the variable investment option was available under the separate account (Separate Account No. 65 Inception Date:12/01/96) is based on the inception date of the oldest class of share of the corresponding portfolio. The Fund Inception Date column in this report represents the date the share class of the mutual fund being offered currently was first established. The Since Inception column represents the average annual overall performance for the oldest class of share since its original inception including the period before its introduction as a variable investment option under the group annuity contract. The performance data for a variable investment option reflects changes in the prices of its investments including, the shares of a corresponding portfolio, reinvestment of dividends and capital gains. It does not reflect deductions for the Separate Account Charge, contract-level charge, Contingent Withdrawal Charge or administrative charge. If such charges were included, performance returns would be lower. Because of ongoing market volatility, a fund's performance may be subject to fluctuations and current performance may be less than the results shown above. An investment in a variable investment option when redeemed, may be worth more or less than the original cost.
